CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS OPENS

Township Farmers Associations
Are Organized and Meetings
Will Be Held Every Night

TO BE FOLLOWED BY A DRIVE

Committee of Twenty in Each Township in Charge—County Meeting Here Tuesday, Dec. 14

A drive for new members by every township organization of farmers in Rush county, to culminate with a meeting of the county association in Rushville on Tuesday, December 14, has been organized and is now under way.

The second meeting of the campaign was held in the court house assembly room Friday night by the Rushville Township Farmers association, the first one having been conducted by the Anderson township association at Milroy.

The plan of organization is the same in each township and the associations are so thoroughly organized that there is no question but that results will be obtained. It is recalled that the farmers association, because of its perfect organization, made the farmers day here in September the biggest community event in the history of Rush county, and it is believed that with the same type of men back of the membership campaign and the same energy displayed, there can be no question about the result.

"I want to see Rush county where she belongs," said Fred Bell, president of the county association, today, "at the head of the list in the state. Not long since Rush county was third in Indiana for percentage of farmers belonging to the association and there is no reason why we should not be first."

A membership campaign committee of twenty men has been appointed in each township. The plan is for this committee to start a canvass of the township the next morning at seven o'clock following the township, being divided, and each division will have a given number of farmers to interview. The campaign includes the renewal of old memberships and the adding of new members. The committee will not stop with a refusal, a follow-up plan having been worked out so that a farmer who first refuses to affiliate will be seen again and again by different committees. No paid organizer will be used as has been the rule in many counties.

When the county meeting is held here December 14, new officers for the year will be elected and other business will be transacted. The achievements of the association during the year, which is the first of its history, will be recounted.

The township meetings will be held as follows and will be followed the day after with the membership drive:

Union, at Gings, Monday, Oct. 18.
Posey, at Arlington, Tues., Oct. 19.
Noble, at New Salem, Tues., Oct. 19.

MRS. HARVEY PORTER HURT

Sister of Mrs. Clem Perkins Injured in Shelby County Runaway

Word has been received here of the serious injury of Mrs. Harvey Porter of Shelby county, a sister of Mrs. Clem Perkins of this city, which she suffered Thursday morning at her home. The accident occurred while Mrs. Porter, with her two daughters, Lois and Dorothy, were driving to the corn field to gather corn when the horse became frightened and started to run away. She tossed the two children from the wagon and then jumped herself, lighting on her head. Mrs. Porter's head was cut open and she was rendered unconscious. One of the children was slightly hurt. The physician attending Mrs. Porter stated that she will recover from her injuries. She was formerly Miss Mary Lowe of this city.

QUIET IN CINCINNATI

Hearing on Petition For Support
Money in Divorce Suit.

Court affairs were unusually quiet today in circuit court for Saturday, and the only business that was transacted was the hearing for support money in a divorce case pending, which was filed by Donald Stewart against Elicia Stewart. The defendant filed a cross complaint and a petition for support money, and it was upon the latter petition that the court heard evidence this morning. It was taken under advisement. Both parties are colored people and reside in Carthage.

No arrests were made today on the remaining four grand jury indictments. The warrants are in the hands of the sheriff and arrests will probably be made Monday.

REMAINS OF CO. B MAN ARE RETURNED

Body of Gilbert Hamilton, Who Joined Army Here, Arrives in Connersville From Overseas.

DIED IN LIVERPOOL IN 1918

Former Comrades in Rushville Will Attend Funeral at Late Residence Sunday.

The remains of Gilbert Hamilton, a Connersville young man who joined Company B when it was organized in this city, arrived this morning in that city, and a military funeral will be held there tomorrow, when several friends of the deceased from here will attend. Mr. and Mrs. Jake Stewart, who live in West Third street, received the word this morning. Mrs. Stewart is an aunt of the deceased.

He is the first man to be returned to Connersville since the war, and because of the fact that he joined the army in this city, he is well known here, and will be remembered by the boys who were a part of that organization. He is no relation to the Hamilton boy, whose body was received in this city a few weeks ago.

Ed Wanley, commander of the Connersville post, American Legion, sent a telegram to the local post this morning requesting that Rushville former service men, and especially those who were in Company B, would attend the services which will be at two o'clock Sunday.

The Connersville boy was not killed in action, but died of influenza in a hospital near Liverpool. His body was taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. Thomas Ford in Connersville, from where the funeral service will be conducted tomorrow. The following from Connersville will be of interest here:

"Corporal Hamilton died in Liverpool, October 20, 1918. He was a member of the famous old Company B, which was formed in Rushville before the United States was technically at war.

"The services at the church will be under the direction of the Rev. J. W. McFall, and in them the Legion will have no direct part, but it will form at the corner of Grand avenue and Eleventh street at half past one o'clock, and, preceded by the Boys' Band, will march to the church, before the cortege proper. All Legion members are requested to be in uniform if possible.

"After the services at the church, the cortege, with the band and the Legion members marching, according to present plans, will proceed to Dale cemetery. There the Rev. McFall will perform the simple ritualistic burial service. Then the band will play some appropriate air, the firing squad will fire three rounds and taps will be sounded, thus ending the beautiful and impressive service which has so long been performed over the heroic dead.

"All service men, whether members of the legion post or not, are desired to take part in the solemn ceremony. Many comrades from Rushville are expected to be here, as he was well known in that city."

FRANCE AND ENGLAND ASK AMERICA TO TAKE LEAD IN FORMING LEAGUE

Senator Harding Makes Assertion in Speech at Greencastle Today in Answer to Colby

FRANCE SENDS SPOKESMAN

Continuing Tour Through State
Nominee and Wife Ride to Terre Haute in Engine Cab

Enroute with Senator Harding's train to Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 16. France and England have both asked America to take the lead to form an international league, Senator Warren G. Harding stated today in a speech at Greencastle, Ind. His speech was in answer to the statement of Secretary of State Colby who stated that only Germany, Austria and Turkey would be called into Harding's association of nations.

"France has sent her spokesman to me asking that America lead the way for an association of nations," Harding stated.

England said through Premier Lloyd George and Earl Grey, that America must revise, amend and make the league of nations possible.

In his speech at Terre Haute, Harding asserted that the coal miners would receive more regular employment in event the republicans were successful in the November elections.

This would come, he said, through the strict enforcement of the provisions of the Esch-Cummins railroad act which provides that coal cars shall be placed at all mines.

Harding stated that the interstate commerce commission has failed to enforce this section, resulting in some of the mines being shut down temporarily.

Senator and Mrs. Harding rode to Terre Haute in the cab of the engine.

COMMISSION WILL MODIFY ITS ORDER

Marginal Profit Allowed Retail Coal Dealers Will be Changed, Decided at Conference

STATE DIVIDED IN GROUPS

Changed Attitude of Commission
Due to Threat to File Suits
Contesting Price Fixing

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 16.—The state special coal and food commission will issue an order changing the marginal profit allowed the retail coal dealers under the recent price schedule, it was announced today.

This order will supercede the old order known as No. 3, which allowed the retailers a margin of $2.25 on each ton of coal handled. The marginal profits will vary under the new order.

The announcement was made following a conference between Jesse Eschbach, chairman of the commission, and counsel for the retailers and the price fixing body.

The body met at the call of Eschbach just after the attorneys for the retailers met to file 400 suits against the commission challenging the validity of order No. 3.

The conference met following a hurried call to the governor's office by Eschbach. Governor Goodrich is a member of the commission.

It was explained that the new order will not be a modification of the one previously issued but will supercede the old one. The margin will depend upon the data to be gathered at a hearing of the retailers, which will be called to obtain the information as to how much it costs for each one to handle a ton of coal.

According to plans, the state will be divided into groups: Group five will compose Muncie, Anderson, Kokomo and Marion. Group six will take in Lafayette, Richmond and Logansport. Other towns will be added to these groups so as to take in the whole state.

In some of these groups the marginal profit will be lower than $2.25 and in others it will exceed that amount.

The changing of the margin followed a lengthy battle between the retail men and the commission, the retail men declaring that the issue was confiscatory and that it would cause them to lose money. They stated that some mines would have to be closed as the result of the commission's action.

The retailers had made preparations to file suits against the issue. They stated that 300 were to have been filed today, but up till shortly after noon today, they had not been filed. It was stated that it was not known whether they intended to take up the court action or not.

BOARD WITHHOLDS PETITION ACTION

Commissioners Consent to Postponement Until They Hear From Farmers Association

TO MEET IN NEXT TWO WEEKS

Expression To be Obtained From Each Organization—No Remonstrance Against Memorial

The county commissioners this afternoon indefinitely postponed action on the petition for a Memorial Hall to be erected at a cost of $100,000 as a memorial to the Rush county soldiers in the late war.

Instead of definitely rejecting the petition, the commissioners consented to withhold judgment in the matter until after each of the township farmers associations held a meeting and took some action on the matter.

Fred Bell, president of the Rush County Farmers association, appeared before the board this afternoon, and promised that he would get the sentiment of the members of each association within ten days or two weeks, because every association except two will meet this week and next to begin their membership campaigns for next year.

Mr. Bell had this idea in mind when the Rushville Township Farmers association met last night and the question was proposed to them. They were for it to a man, and they said so in short speeches which were made at the meeting.

Two members of the board of commissioners have been against ordering the Memorial Hall without an election and the third member has been in favor of ordering the memorial at once.

The two members of the board opposed say they want the sentiment of the taxpayers. Mr. Bell proposes that they shall have it and he is confident that it will be favorable because he, in common with a lot of other people believes that the people of Rush county have not so far receded from their former patriotic position, which they maintained during the war that they are not now willing to show some appreciation of the services rendered by the men who fought for their country.

The two members of the board who are opposed, have been reminded frequently that the Memorial Hall petition had been on file for more than a month, but that no one in Rush county had remonstrated against it, as the law provides.

Though there may be some opposition to the project, no man has had the courage to circulate a petition or to appear publicly and declare himself against it.

The reason for urging the erection of a Memorial Hall now, is that in order to have a referendum on the question, a petition containing a majority of the names of those signing the original petition, must

FRANK HASHER PAYS A FINE

Pleads Guilty to Shooting Firearms in City Limits.

Frank Hasher, owner of a grocery store in west First street, was arraigned before Squire Stech this afternoon on a charge of shooting firearms within the city limits, to which he entered a plea of guilty and was fined a dollar and cost. He paid the fine. The charge was preferred by Charley Pea, former policeman, who asserted that Hasher shot a revolver five times last night, two of the bullets landing in the side of Pea's residence. Hasher asserted that he fired in the air in order to frighten five boys who had thrown rocks at his place of business. The five boys will probably be called before the Squire on charges that will be preferred by Hasher.

The campaign next week will set a new record for the number of meetings to be held in Rush county.

In addition to the republican meetings announced above, the democrats have also announced a number for next week, the principal one of which will be at the court room on the third floor of the court house Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock. The address will be delivered by Grace Julian Clark of Indianapolis, woman's club worker and political writer.

The principal meeting for the republicans will be on the Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the coliseum in the city park. Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter of Topeka, Kansas is expected to attract the largest crowd of the campaign because she is not only noted as an orator, but is a Rush county woman and has many friends in this county.

The closing week of the campaign will be equally as intense in activity for several meetings have already been arranged, including the republican county tour on October 26, and a number of others will be scheduled. The republicans expect to make the tour the biggest effort of the campaign.

Mrs. Marshall Coolidge, who speaks at Milroy next Wednesday evening, lives in Minnesota, and her husband is a cousin of Governor Coolidge, republican candidate for vice-president.

Mrs. McCarter has just closed a two weeks' campaign tour in New York and came to Indiana on Thurs-

SAYS MAIN ISSUE IS PARTY RECORD

Rep. Foss of Illinois Severely Ar-raigns Democratic Administration For Extravagances

G. O. P. A PARTY OF PROGRESS

Miss Mary Sleeth Urges Women to Affiliate With it in Order to Get Desired Reforms

Not the league of nations, but the record of the democratic party for the last eight years, is the principal issue in this campaign, declared George Edmund Foss, of Chicago, former Illinois congressman, in an address at the court room Friday night, in which he severely arraigned the party for its extravagances both during and after the war, and its lack of preparation for war when the entrance of the United States into the conflict appeared inevitable.

The meeting was opened with an hour's address by Miss Mary Sleeth, in which she made a ringing appeal to the women to support the republican party because only through it could the reforms which women seek, be obtained. Miss Sleeth was congratulated by scores of people after the meeting for her speech, it being the first time she had appeared before a local audience during this campaign.

Miss Sleeth pointed out that since women had been given the ballot, they should take advantage of the opportunity to improve conditions. She urged upon all new voters the necessity of joining a party because this is essential a government by political parties.

"And it behooves the lately enfranchised women to affiliate with the republican party," she asserted, "because it is the party of progress the party through which you may hope to win the reforms in which you are interested."

Miss Sleeth referred to the conditions of child labor in the south, pointing out that two million children are working an average of sixty-six hours a week.

"You can not expect this situation to be corrected by the democratic party, which is dominated by the south," the speaker continued. "The democratic majority there will not permit a condition which is worse than the days of slavery, to be corrected. It must be forced by the party which has always stood for advancement."

Miss Sleeth pointed to the wise legislation enacted by the republican party in the last sixty years, which had been in a large measure responsible for the wonderful achievements of the nation, laying stress particularly on a protective tariff.

Miss Sleeth also discussed the league of nations briefly.

Asserting that the democratic party's promises must be measured by its past performances, Rep Foss pointed to the many errors in national affairs in the last eight years. He referred to the tariff question, which has always been the main line of demarkation between the two old parties, calling attention to the re-

CHANGE GAS HEARING DATE

Commission Will Hear Central Fuel's
Petition on Nov. 1 Here.

The Public Service Commission of Indiana will hear the petition of the Central Fuel Gas Company, who are asking for increased rates, at the court house in this city on Monday afternoon, November first at two o'clock. The meeting was first scheduled to be here next Wednesday, but owing to a conflict in dates, the commission today announced that it would be changed to the first of November. The local gas company in petitioning for higher rates asks for a new schedule with a minimum rate requiring that bills be paid before the tenth of the month following the reading of the meters. It is not known whether or not a remonstrance will be filed.

"You all remember the conditions in 1914," he continued. "Three-fourth of the railroads went into the hands of receivers, men were out of work and depression was beginning to appear when the war broke out. When this condition arose, there came a demand for our goods and produced a war prosperity which made the tariff question a dead issue for the time being. However, if the democrats had left the Payne bill on the statute books, it would have produced four times as much revenue, and would have materially reduced taxes."

Cong. Foss took the democratic party to task for lack of preparation for war, using as evidence, a recent statement of Franklin Roosevelt, assistant secretary of navy, that nothing had been done towards building up the navy January 1, 1917. The American army was even in a worse condition, the speaker pointed out, being composed of less than 100,000 men.

"The result today is that the immense cost of the war was due to the lack of foresight to prepare before we were actually engaged," Foss said.

"I wouldn't blame them so much for their war extravagances if they would shut off the expenses after the war. In the last congress heads of departments asked for a five billion dollars and the republican congress saved the nation $1,300,000,000 by slicing off that sum."

He pointed out that the first republican congress under Wilson cut his department heads' estimates one billion, making a total saving by two republican congresses of $2,300,000,000.

"This shows the republican party has already started on its policy of retrenchment," the speaker declared, "and if you elect Harding and a republican congress, you can depend on economy in government affairs and a lowering of taxes."

In closing, Rep. Foss explained the organization of the league and took up each reservation proposed by the republicans of the senate, showing how they attempted to preserve American rights and institutions.

Single Town Has 18,000 Snakes And It's As Arid As The Sahara

Snakeville, Texas, Has Population Running Into Thousands, But There Are No Traffic Cops, Paved Streets, Street Cars or Movies

(By United Press)
Snakeville, Tex., Oct. 16.—This is a city with the population running into the thousands. Yet there are no traffic cops, no street cars, no paved streets, no movies. It is an American city, yet few of the thousands of inhabitants speak English—in fact, few of them talk at all.

Snakeville is all the name indicates—and some more, too. The residents of this unique city include all breeds and varieties of snakes. Snakeville today has a housing capacity of 18,000 snakes. The buildings are substantial concrete structures.

Additional to snakes, 5,000 parrots claim this their home while monkeys, tigers, lions, bears, lizards, wildcats, giraffes and other Southern types of wild animals wander through special forests and are living here without paying taxes.

STOCK IS BEING SOLD

At a meeting of the farmers of Walker and Orange townships of this county and of Union, Liberty and Marion townships of Shelby county, held Thursday night in the school building at Manilla, the first steps were taken for the formation of a co-operating company for the purchase and management of the grain elevators at Manilla, Homer and Rays Crossing.

This plan was suggested a few weeks ago and will probably be followed out in other communities of the county, where elevators may be purchased and controlled by the farmers. At the meeting Thursday night each township selected men, who will canvass and solicit stock in the five townships.

The movement today was reported to be well under way, and indications point to success. The farmers believe the co-operative company can obtain better results for the producers and will insure them of the protection of co-operative selling of their grain.

HALLOWE'EN WILL BE ON SUNDAY THIS YEAR

Usual Parties And Dances Will Most Likely be Celebrated on Saturday and Monday Nights

"SUMMER HAS NOW WENT"

In the vernacular of the little boy, "Summer has went," for those beautiful flower boxes which have been adding cheerfulness to the streets of Rushville for the past five months were removed today and will be cared for by the florist to be brought out again next spring. This is but another sign of approach autumn and winter—"When the frost is on the pumpkin."

And speaking of autumn and the pumpkin, doesn't it remind you that the days of the witches, the goblins, the bats and the jack-o-lanterns is nearly here? Halloween isn't far off and preparations are already being made for parties galore on that night. The young folks will soon be standing on their heads in a tub of water "bobbing" for apples or gazing thru domino masks at other grotesquely attired dancers trying to guess their identity.

It may cause some feeling of regret when Summer bids good-bye but there's a consolation in the evening gatherings that will come to replace out-of-door sports.

Because Halloween comes on Sunday, the 31st of this month, it will most likely be celebrated with overtime events, both on the Saturday proceeding and the Monday following. The "kids" will probably celebrate on all three nights.

Each Post of The American Legion Will Have Women's Auxiliary, it is Announced

50 CHAPTERS NOW FORMED

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 16—An auxiliary unit for each post of the American Legion in Indiana is the goal set by the department executive committee, and plans are under way for a drive to reach this goal.

The executive committee instructed each of its members to appoint an organizer for his congressional district. This organizer, who will be a member of the women's auxiliary, will visit each community of her district, where there is a post of the Legion, and aided by members of the Legion will endeavor to form a unit of the auxiliary in that community. Mothers, wives, sisters and daughters of Legion members are eligible for membership in the auxiliary. The dues are 25 cents a year.

There are now 50 chapters of the auxiliary in Indiana, with a membership of over 2,000. There are 308 posts of the Legion, with a membership of about 40,000.

Detective Story at Princess

Loren Baker and Ethel Terry will be featured tonight at the Princess theater in, "The Mystery of the Yellow Room," which is an exciting detective story, full of thrills, mystery and suspense. A Sunshine comedy, "Mary's Little Lobster," will also be on the program tonight, which promises to be an exceptionally good bill.

Viola Dana has the most important drama of her starring career in "Dangerous to Men," which is announced as the feature attraction at the Princess Theatre, for a run of two days, beginning on Monday. The screen play is an adaptation by A. P. Younger of the famous English drama, "Eliza Comes to Stay," which was produced in London with the author, H. V. Esmond, and his wife, Eva Moore, in the leading roles, and which scored one of the biggest successes of the modern English stage.

The role of Eliza taxes to the full Viola Dana's versatile powers as a comedienne, picturing the development of a tomboy school girl who finds herself at eighteen thrust into a bachelor's household as his ward, there to discover her own seductive charm and how it makes her regarded as a dangerous woman. It is said to be Miss Dana's favorite role.

"Brothers Divided" at Mystic

"Brothers Divided," Frank Keenan's newest production for Pathe and booked for the Mystic Theatre today is one of those pictures that makes the world seem like a mighty fine place to live in.

The story revolves about two brothers—one crabbed and selfish and hard; the other tender and generous and square. Twenty years in the confines of a prison had taught him to appreciate human nature, and when circumstances placed him in charge of his brother's mill, where the employees were overworked and underpaid, he told them of his past and asked for a chance to make good.

He got it—and the result brings this delightful, human interest story of work and play and just plain happy lives to a close that sends a smile chasing the tears away.

Frank Keenan not only plays the role of the two brothers, but also directed the picture, which was written by Gertrude Andrews. Wallace MacDonald, Ruth Langston, Gertrude Clair and others are prominent in the splendid supporting cast.

Self Preservation

Some democratic leaders have accused Senator Harding of being evasive in the position he takes on campaign questions. At Omaha he was asked about his opinion on the subject of the proposed "general amnesty to political prisoners." This is what he said:

"I have been asked many times during this campaign whether I would grant general amnesty, as it is called, to political prisoners. My answer, I trust, is clear. I would not."

On this, as on other subjects, Harding goes straight to the point and is unevasive. He makes no bid for the T.W. W. vote. He holds out no hope to the anarchist. He gives no slightest encouragement to the seditionist. He is for enforcement of law—law founded upon justice and perpetuation of orderly government.

Mr. Harding's statement is not a declaration that he favors punishment of all who may be imprisoned on a charge of crime against the government. He specifically says, "If there are political prisoners who are being punished unjustly, I shall want to take immediate action to restore justice to such men and women, precisely as I will wish to give freedom to any man or woman who has been unjustly accused of ordinary crime."

"Political prisoners" and "general amnesty" are terms which the enemies of American government have been using to mislead people unfamiliar with the facts. There is no such thing as a "political prisoner" under the laws of the United States and the jurisdiction of our courts. Clever propagandists have used the term in such a manner as to convey the impression that there are such prisoners in the same sense that men and women were made political prisoners in Russia. Probably not many people were deceived. It is true that under the present administration of the department of justice, it has been charged that men have been arrested on inadequate evidence and held indefinitely instead of being accorded that speedy trial which they are guaranteed by our federal constitution. If there are any such prisoners, they are held in violation of law, and will be given relief under Senator Harding's pledge to "take immediate action to restore justice" as in any other case.

Self preservation is the first law of nature. It is also the first law of governments. Unless the government be preserved, no personal or property right can be safe from the aggressions of combined greed and brute power.

There is not now nor has there ever been any disposition to hinder any man who proposes a change in our form of government in the manner prescribed by amendment of the constitution. But there is and will continue to be a demand for the punishment of men who try to overthrow the government by forcible resistance to its laws or by violence of any kind. Probably the most thorough, comprehensive and specific measure designed to meet that demand is the Poindexter sedition bill, still pending in the senate. That bill makes it a felony to advocate, aid or abet forcible resistance to a forcible destruction of constituted government in general or of the government of the United States, its laws, authority, agents or officials, or the governments of the state, municipalities or other constituted authorities within the United States. The measure provides further specifications for the punishment of advocacy of the use of force in defiance of law. With that measure on the statute books, no attorney general will ever plead inadequacy of law as an excuse for failure to apprehend and convict seditionists, and yet under that measure no man could be convicted unless he were an enemy of government and of law and order.

With Harding in the White House and a working republican majority in both houses of congress, justice will be assured to all, but there will be no mercy for the man who commits the greatest crime of all—that of endeavoring to overthrow the government itself.

Mud Slinging

Fortunately the campaign will be ended in November. Were it otherwise we fear there would be a dearth of perfectly good mud in this country.

Mud has been flying promiscuously for the past few weeks. It has been striking, and besmirching, and besmearing until one begins to wonder what kind of men we put up for public office.

To any one with a reasonably clean mind this policy of mud slinging in political campaigns is nauseating.

If a man deserves the mud that swats him he is not the kind of men we should honor with public office. If he is an honorable man he should not be subjected to vituperation and abuse.

It requires long years of correct living to build up a desirable reputation. To destroy it as an act of political expediency is about the limit to which an opponent can go.

The indiscriminate assassination of character is becoming entirely too prevalent in this country—but at that we are no worse than the other nations of the earth.

It is difficult to imagine Tom Taggart of Indiana, Boss Murphy of Tammany Hall, Big Jim Nugent of New Jersey and Boss Brennan of Chicago being pleased over the Gov. Cox succumbing to Pres. Wilson's view of the campaign situation and stressing the idealistic league of nations.

Some queens at times exhibit symptoms of being almost human. She of England and the ladies of her court are said to be buying second hand gowns in order to make war on the prevailing high prices in London.

The government has duly and officially decreed that women is man's equal, but we venture the prediction that she will not insist upon her new born rights when it comes time to build the fire on a cold winter morning.

Again we are facing a crisis in our national history. If this baseball scandal is not settled by November we fear no one will have enough interest left in the election to vote.

They say one kind of a brave is the fellow who goes home at three o'clock in the morning without removing his shoes, before opening the door.

Hang onto your nickels, fellows. Prices are sliding down, and there may come a time when they will be of use in making small change.

We hope, however, automobiles will not become so cheap, no one will want to buy them.

LAST TIME ON EMBEZZLEMENT

Goshen, Ind., Oct. 16—Charles E. Morrice, has been indicted by the received more attention from the Elkhart county Grand Jury than any other man in the history of the state.

Morrice has been indicted by the Elkhart Grand Jury 36 times, 20 of these indictments charge Grand Larceny, six are for larceny and embezzlement, six for forging and uttering forged instruments, two petit larceny, and one is for just plain larceny.

Morrice was released after putting up a bond of $21,000 and was allowed to return to Peru where he is a manager of the Ariel Cabinet company.

The indictments were returned after B. F. Deahl, president of the I. X. L. Furniture company accused Morrice of misappropriating $50,000 worth of property belonging to the furniture company.

Morrice is not willing to stand by and 'look wise and wait' but has filed suit against the company for alleged back salary and commission amounting to $22,000.

No date has been set for Morrice's trial.

FISH AND GAME
MEN WILL MEET

Ninth Annual Session of Indiana
Fish, Game and Forest League
Will Meet Oct. 28

INCLUDES 108 ASSOCIATIONS

Prominent Workers in Different
State Branches Will Address
The Conferences.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 16—The
Indiana Fish, Game and Forest
League will meet in ninth annual session in the palm room at the Claypool hotel, Thursday, Oct. 28,
according to announcement by Walter Shirts, of Noblesville, president
of the league. The morning session will convene at 10 o'clock and at 6
o'clock the Marion County Fish &
Game Association will entertain visiting delegates at a dinner.

During the business hours of the convention, delegates from 108
county associations which make up
the state organization, will exchange ideas and map out a program to be presented to the next general assembly regarding changes in some of the fish and game laws of the state and the creation of additional laws tending to conserve and increase the fish and game in Indiana.

Richard Lieber, director; William
A. Guthrie, chairman of the state
conservation commission, and George N. Mannfeld, superintendent of the division of fish and game of the conservation department, will speak at the meeting and explain
the work of the department. They also will present a program of proposed legislation—thirty-one changes
which were recently promulgated.
The state department of conservation recognizes the Indiana Fish, Game and Forest League as the official state organization of men interested in the conservation of the wild life of Indiana, and by laying
its legislative program before this convention is enabled to relate accomplishments of the department
during its 18 months existence and
to co-operate with the league for further sustained progress.

Speakers from the department
will point out that Indiana is without a law regulating the catching of fish during spawning season—a period when natural propagation should not be interfered with. The department recognizes the value of fish hatcheries for restocking
streams, but says that daily the number of anglers is increasing,
while the fish are decreasing. Unless the state has legislation to regulate fishing in spawning time the supply
in lakes and streams will never be augmented as it should. Stream pollution is another serious menace
which the department will seek cooperation of the league for legislation to prevent, and it will be shown
by speakers that many appeals from citizens are now unanswered for lack of funds and personnel necessary to prosecutions.

RUSHVILLE ADDS
2 MORE VICTORIES

First and Second Teams Defeat
Fairview Fives Here Friday
Night in Two Good Games

LOCALS SHOW SNAPPY PLAY

Fairview Varsity Throws Scare Into Rushville Early in Game But
is Soon Overwhelmed

The high school's first and second
teams annexed victories last night
over the two Fairview teams, when the first team defeated their first team by the score of twenty-nine
to 9 and the second team walked away with the large end of a 20 to 3 score.

Titsworth's Fairview teams never gave up, and fought every minute
of the game, but the local team had them bested on shooting the baskets. Fairview's fast quintet of last year was weakened this year by the loss of Hill and Patton, who figured
strongly in the sectional tournament here last year.

When the game first started, the visitors threw a scare into the local team, as they seemed to have the best of the game. Fairview succeeded in taking the ball down the line,
and had excellent team work, but
were off form in hitting the goal.

Peters, their lengthy center, finally located the basket for a long shot, and made the first score of the evening. After a few minutes of
see-sawing, Eakins landed a foul
goal in the net, making the score
2 to 1. Soon afterwards Rushville began to find the basket, and after
limbering up with their team work,
piled up the score to 15 points,
while Fairview had 5, at the end of the first half.

Emerson Headlee starred for the
locals in making points, and of the 29 he made 14, making 7 field goals
in the game. The rest of the team played in harmony with each other,
and as the Fairview danger passed,
it was with very little difficulty that
the pointers were made. Rushville
showed many flashes of snappy
team work, in which the ball was hard to follow as it was taken down
the floor.

Eakins was in good form on foul shots, making good five out of seven chances. Fairview made good one out of six chances on foul throws.

Black, an athletic director from Technical high school of Indianapolis, acted as referee, and stated that the game was exceedingly fast
and complimented both teams on their showing. The game was rough
in spots, but the referee stated
that roughness prevailed in every fast game, and that it would have slowed the game down, had the roughness been kept out.

Link, star guard for Fairview,
sustained a badly sprained ankle
toward the end of the game, and in all probability he will be kept from

the game for several weeks.

The local team will play a return
game next Friday night at Fairview, at which time each team will stage games.

The local second team played
good ball and didn't have much difficulty in defeating the Fairview
second squad, by the score of 20
to 3.

The score and summary.

Invitations have been issued for a musical to be given at the home of Miss Alice Norris, 632 North Harrison street, Thursday afternoon, October 21. The hours will be from 4:00 to 6:00 o'clock. The hostesses will be Mrs. B. O. Simpson, Miss Grace Buell, Miss Bertha Helm and Miss Norris.

Mrs. Mert Wolcott and Mrs. Scott Hosier were hostesses for a card party at the latter's home in East Eighth street yesterday afternoon. After the card games a course luncheon was served. At 6:30 o'clock a prettily appointed dinner was served to the friends of the hostesses and their husbands. Tiny pumpkins marked the covers for the guests and bouquets of roses and carnations furnished the decorations for the dining room. The remainder of the evening was enjoyed in playing cards. Mrs. Scherine of Knightstown was the only out-of-town guest.

Mrs. O. E. Humes delightfully entertained the members of the Tarry-A-While club yesterday afternoon at her home in North Harrison street. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion with baskets of fall flowers. Clever contest furnished the amusement for the afternoon. At six o'clock a delicious dinner was served to the following club members: Mrs. George Helm, Mrs. Dave Compton, Mrs. Helen Pierson, Mrs. Ray Compton, Miss Libby Hackleman, Miss Elsie Bohannon, Miss Grace Bohannon, Mrs. J. ## Hang of Gown Is Freak of Fashion

By "MARJORIE"
(Written for United Press)

New York, Oct. 16.—Milady of fashion is not on the level. At least, her clothes are not, for as the season advances, the tendency to lopsidedness is more and more marked. Nor is this "up-again-down-again" movement confined to the skirt hems that would be described by the rural dressmaker as "hanging awful". The craze for irregular, spasmodic lines is shown in draperies, pannellings, the way a button snap fastens irregular length in sleeves or shoulder straps, and graduated bandings and applied trimmings.

The "awful hanging" hems are seen in gowns, suits and even coats. In dresses the effect is often shown by a bead or yarn fringe that is set higher upon the body of the gown one side than the other, and thus makes the skirt length an inch or so longer on one side than on another. Fringed hem finishings, by the way, are a popular novelty of the season. Monkey fur is by far the favored fringe material, as bead fringes are too apt to be caught by the shoe and broken. Fringe is not often seen upon coats, but an irregular hem line is given either by the natural cut of the garment or by having the buttons set an inch or so above the corresponding button-holes.

Pannellings are very useful in giving a broken skirt silhouette. Thus a leading Fifth Avenue house shows a street gown fashioned of rich bottle green duvetyne. The basque front is puckered about a white satin vestee and the back of the gown is a panel belted in at the waist line. The lopsidedness is achieved by the panel being two more inches in length than the garment proper.

The same house shows another model of chow brown velvet with side panels of nigger brown satin. One panel is a full three inches longer than the other, although they are both fastened symmetrically to the shoulder seams. Other gowns show the use of the little aprons so popular last season. This season's aprons, however, are anything but on the square. Thus, one side may be round and the opposite side square, or one side may be scalloped and the other side rounding.

Bodices are being cut on diagonal lines with contrasting trimming on each side. Thus, a leading house shows an evening gown of black net with a diagonally-cut bodice which is finished on the left side with jet beads and on the right with a fold of brocade silver ribbon. One shoulder strap is of jet beads and the other of black tulle. Contrasting shoulder straps are very popular and are shown in such combinations as beading and embroidery, or tulle and ribbon.

Another season's freak is the arrangement of fur collars and cuffs from underneath the fabric collar and sleeve and sewed on the inside so irregularly that one side protrudes higher than the other.

When irregular lines do not seem to give a sufficient "choppy" effect to the garment, courriers combine colors in such a way that the line seems to be broken. A modish shop is showing an afternoon gown of plaited blue charmeuse skirt and a long-waisted basque of bronze broadcloth. A sash of dull Roman tints is threaded through loops at the waist line in such a way that there are two levels to the girdle and a consequent irregular effect.

There is a tendency to permit the gorgeous linings of suit or coat to protrude at spasmodic intervals. Altogether, clothes are full of ups and downs, while every little hem-line has a hanging all its own.

COATS THAT DEFY COLD

Those handsome plush fabrics which have established a reputation for durability and warmth as well as rich appearance, have been introduced this fall in many attractive coats. Besides those that imitate certain furs so closely that they deceive the eyes, there are others that make no attempt to imitate anything, but stand on their own merits as materials of great beauty, especially adapted to coats for the coldest weather.

In the picture a handsome and practical coat is shown made of dark brown plush with a high turn-over collar of fur. Skunk, martin, fox and other pelts provide collars for these coats as for coats of short-haired fur, and the balls that finish the ends of the long girdle are of fur. Three handsome buttons secure the closing of the coat and are placed to the left of the front.

BRITISH STRIKE TO BE A FINISH FIGHT

Premier Lloyd George Says That Government Accepts Challenge as Miners Walk Out

SEES NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

London, England, Oct. 16.—The British government has accepted the challenge of the coal striking miners for a fight to the finish, as millions of miners left the mines in response to the call for the coal strike today, Premier Lloyd George asserted, placing the blame upon the strikers and asking the co-operation of the people in an effort to avert an industrial crisis.

Serious consequences might result from the defeat of the miners, it was pointed out, and a special meeting of the miner's delegates was called for Wednesday to decide what step would be taken.

The premier's message declared that there was no cause for alarm. He outlined the course of negotiations and stated that, according to the advice of leaders, the miners will attempt to gain their ends by force. He appealed for economy.

STATE CHARITIES MEET NOV. 13-16

Annual Conference Will be Held in Terre Haute and Best Versed Speakers Are Obtained

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION TOO

Subjects Will Include All Phases of Charitable Work in the State —Interest is Keen

The program for the Indiana State Conference of Charities and Correction, which will be held in Terre Haute from November 13 to 16, is the most interesting of a long series of excellent programs which have been presented to similar meeting in previous years. An effort has been made and is meeting with success to obtain the best versed speakers on social subjects in the United States to lecture during the period of the conference. Furthermore all of the leaders in charitable and social work in Indiana will be present to participate and to direct the work of the round table conversations.

Specific subjects to be covered include Americanization, the Child problem in the city, the Public School situation, state and county charities, juvenile courts, the American Red Cross, Public Institutions and Agencies, Family Welfare, and Public Health Nursing. These subjects are of interest to every public spirited man and woman in the state and arrangements are being made to take care of the large number expected to attend.

The program for Saturday night, November 13, includes an address of welcome by Mayor C. R. Hunter of Terre Haute; response and greeting by Dr. W. W. Parsons of the Indiana State Normal School; the President's annual address "The Lighting of the Candles" by Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon of Evansville; and an address "American Americanization" by Allen T. Burns President of National Conference of Social Work, New York City. Neither Dr. Parsons, the widely known and popular educational veteran of the State Normal School, nor Mrs. Bacon, for many years prominent in social work in this state, need an introduction to the Hoosier public but their names on the program are a guarantee of its excellence.

Allen T. Burns, director of Americanization studies for the Carnegie Foundation was recently elected president of the National Conference of Social Work for 1921 at the recent conference session at New Orleans. As a Y. M. C. A. worker at Chicago Commons, as secretary of the Pittsburgh Civic Commission, and as director of the Cleveland Foundation, he has been an active and influential worker in four of the great cities of America and his lecture will be one of the features of the conference.

REVIVAL SEEN IN SOME GERMAN INDUSTRIES

Connections Between Shipyards and Coal and Iron Works Being Made in Increasing Numbers

MAY RENEW COMMERCE FLEET

By CARL D. GROAT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Berlin, (By Mail).—Despite the slumping tendency in German industry at this time, it is remarkable that some important branches are showing signs of great improvement.

Connections between shipyards and coal and iron works are being made in increasing numbers. The shipyards are making feverish efforts to renew Germany's commerce fleet.

Such reconstruction is given an impetus by the recent agreements between the Hamburg-Amerika line and the American Ship and Commerce corporation, and between the Norddeutscher Lloyd line and the U. S. mail steamship company. Admiral Benson of the U. S. shipping board has described these agreements as strictly business deals which will help put the American shipping business on a strong footing.

Here, in Germany, one regards them as affording a field for activity for the old German companies and a starting point for a quicker rebuilding of the German fleet than

The German realizes that the American agreement is not made out of friendship for Germany, and he feels that there is in it a clever move to assure America's standing on the seas as against English competition. And, English manifestly is viewing the arrangement with the angry feelings of the "Zuspaetgekommenen" (the too late arrived) and it is possible that England will strive, perhaps successfully, to make other connections with Germany for a co-operation in the shipping line.

CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS OPENS

Township Farmers Associations Are Organized and Meetings Will Be Held Every Night

TO BE FOLLOWED BY A DRIVE

Committee of Twenty in Each Township in Charge—County Meeting Here Tuesday, Dec. 14

A drive for new members by every township organization of farmers in Rush county, to culminate with a meeting of the county association in Rushville on Tuesday, December 14, has been organized and is now under way.

The second meeting of the campaign was held in the court house assembly room Friday night by the Rushville Township Farmers association, the first one having been conducted by the Anderson township association at Milroy.

The plan of organization is the same in each township and the associations are so thoroughly organized that there is no question but that results will be obtained. It is recalled that the farmers association, because of its perfect organization, made the farmers day here in September the biggest community event in the history of Rush county, and it is believed that with the same type of men back of the membership campaign and the same energy displayed, there can be no question about the result.

"I want to see Rush county where she belongs," said Fred Bell, president of the county association, today, "at the head of the list in the state. Not long since Rush county was third in Indiana for percentage of farmers belonging to the association and there is no reason why we should not be first."

A membership campaign committee of twenty men has been appointed in each township. The plan is for this committee to start a canvass of the township the next morning at seven o'clock following the township, being divided, and each division will have a given number of farmers to interview. The campaign includes the renewal of old memberships and the adding of new members. The committee will not stop with a refusal, a follow-up plan having been worked out so that a farmer who first refuses to affiliate will be seen again and again by different committees. No paid organizer will be used as has been the rule in many counties.

When the county meeting is held here December 14, new officers for the year will be elected and other business will be transacted. The achievements of the association during the year, which is the first of its history, will be recounted.

The township meetings will be held as follows and will be followed the day after with the membership drive:

Union, at Gings, Monday, Oct. 18.
Posey, at Arlington, Tues., Oct. 19.
Noble, at New Salem, Tues., Oct. 19.

MRS. HARVEY PORTER HURT

Sister of Mrs. Clem Perkins Injured in Shelby County Runaway

Word has been received here of the serious injury of Mrs. Harvey Porter of Shelby county, a sister of Mrs. Clem Perkins of this city, which she suffered Thursday morning at her home. The accident occurred while Mrs. Porter, with her two daughters, Lois and Dorothy, were driving to the corn field to gather corn when the horse became frightened and started to run away. She tossed the two children from the wagon and then jumped herself, lighting on her head. Mrs. Porter's head was cut open and she was rendered unconscious. One of the children was slightly hurt. The physician attending Mrs. Porter stated that she will recover from her injuries. She was formerly Miss Mary Lowe of this city.

QUIET IN CITY

Hearing on Petition For Support Money in Divorce Suit.

Court affairs were unusually quiet today in circuit court for Saturday, and the only business that was transacted was the hearing for support money in a divorce case pending, which was filed by Donald Stewart against Elicia Stewart. The defendant filed a cross complaint and a petition for support money, and it was upon the latter petition that the court heard evidence this morning. It was taken under advisement. Both parties are colored people and reside in Carthage.

No arrests were made today on the remaining four grand jury indictments. The warrants are in the hands of the sheriff and arrests will probably be made Monday.

REMAINS OF CO. B MAN ARE RETURNED

Body of Gilbert Hamilton, Who Joined Army Here, Arrives in Connersville From Overseas.

DIED IN LIVERPOOL IN 1918

Former Comrades in Rushville Will Attend Funeral at Late Residence Sunday.

The remains of Gilbert Hamilton, a Connersville young man who joined Company B when it was organized in this city, arrived this morning in that city, and a military funeral will be held there tomorrow, when several friends of the deceased from here will attend. Mr. and Mrs. Jake Stewart, who live in West Third street, received the word this morning. Mrs. Stewart is an aunt of the deceased.

He is the first man to be returned to Connersville since the war, and because of the fact that he joined the army in this city, he is well known here, and will be remembered by the boys who were a part of that organization. He is no relation to the Hamilton boy, whose body was received in this city a few weeks ago.

Ed Wanley, commander of the Connersville post, American Legion, sent a telegram to the local post this morning requesting that Rushville former service men, and especially those who were in Company B, would attend the services which will be at two o'clock Sunday.

The Connersville boy was not killed in action, but died of influenza in a hospital near Liverpool. His body was taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. Thomas Ford in Connersville, from where the funeral service will be conducted tomorrow. The following from Connersville will be of interest here:

"Corporal Hamilton died in Liverpool, October 20, 1918. He was a member of the famous old Company B, which was formed in Rushville before the United States was technically at war.

"The services at the church will be under the direction of the Rev. J. W. McFall, and in them the Legion will have no direct part, but it will form at the corner of Grand avenue and Eleventh street at half past one o'clock, and, preceded by the Boys' Band, will march to the church, before the cortege proper. All Legion members are requested to be in uniform if possible.

"After the services at the church, the cortege, with the band and the Legion members marching, according to present plans, will proceed to Dale cemetery. There the Rev. McFall will perform the simple ritualistic burial service. Then the band will play some appropriate air, the firing squad will fire three rounds and taps will be sounded, thus ending the beautiful and impressive service which has so long been performed over the heroic dead.

"All service men, whether members of the legion post or not, are desired to take part in the solemn ceremony. Many comrades from Rushville are expected to be here, as he was well known in that city."

FRANCE AND ENGLAND ASK AMERICA TO TAKE LEAD IN FORMING LEAGUE

Senator Harding Makes Assertion in Speech at Greencastle Today in Answer to Colby

FRANCE SENDS SPOKESMAN

Continuing Tour Through State Nominee and Wife Ride to Terre Haute in Engine Cab

Enroute with Senator Harding's train to Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 16, France and England have both asked America to take the lead to form an international league, Senator Warren G. Harding stated today in a speech at Greencastle, Ind. His speech was in answer to the statement of Secretary of State Colby who stated that only Germany, Austria and Turkey would be called into Harding's association of nations.

"France has sent her spokesman

to me asking that America lead the way for an association of nations," Harding stated.

England said through Premier Lloyd George and Earl Grey, that America must revise, amend and make the league of nations possible.

In his speech at Terre Haute, Harding asserted that the coal miners would receive more regular employment in event the republicans were successful in the November elections.

This would come, he said, through the strict enforcement of the provisions of the Esch-Cummings railroad act which provides that coal cars shall be placed at all mines.

Harding stated that the interstate commerce commission has failed to enforce this section, resulting in some of the mines being shut down temporarily.

Senator and Mrs. Harding rode to Terre Haute in the cab of the engine.

COMMISSION WILL MODIFY ITS ORDER

Marginal Profit Allowed Retail Coal Dealers Will be Changed, Decided at Conference

STATE DIVIDED IN GROUPS

Changed Attitude of Commission Due to Threat to File Suits Contesting Price Fixing

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 16.—The state special coal and food commission will issue an order changing the marginal profit allowed the retail coal dealers under the recent price schedule, it was announced today.

This order will supersede the old order known as No. 3, which allowed the retailers a margin of $2.25 on each ton of coal handled. The marginal profits will vary under the new order.

The announcement was made following a conference between Jesse Eschbach, chairman of the commission, and counsel for the retailers and the price fixing body.

The body met at the call of Eschbach just after the attorneys for the retailers met to file 400 suits against the commission challenging the validity of order No. 3.

The conference met following a hurried call to the governor's office by Eschbach. Governor Goodrich is a member of the commission.

It was explained that the new order will not be a modification of the one previously issued but will supersede the old one. The margin will depend upon the data to be gathered at a hearing of the retailers, which will be called to obtain the information as to how much it costs for each one to handle a ton of coal.

According to plans, the state will be divided into groups: Group five will compose Muncie, Anderson, Kokomo and Marion. Group six will take in Lafayette, Richmond and Logansport. Other towns will be added to these groups so as to take in the whole state.

In some of these groups the marginal profit will be lower than $2.25 and in others it will exceed that amount.

The changing of the margin followed a lengthy battle between the retail men and the commission, the retail men declaring that the issue was confiscatory and that it would cause them to lose money. They stated that some mines would have to be closed as the result of the commission's action.

The retailers had made preparations to file suits against the issue. They stated that 300 were to have been filed today, but up till shortly after noon today, they had not been filed. It was stated that it was not known whether they intended to take up the court action or not.

BOARD WITHHOLDS PETITION ACTION

Commissioners Consent to Postpone Until They Hear From Farmers Association

TO MEET IN NEXT TWO WEEKS

Expression To be Obtained From Each Organization—No Remonstrance Against Memorial

The county commissioners this afternoon indefinitely postponed action on the petition for a Memorial Hall to be erected at a cost of $100,000 as a memorial to the Rush county soldiers in the late war.

Instead of definitely rejecting the petition, the commissioners consented to withhold judgment in the matter until after each of the township farmers' associations held a meeting and took some action on the matter.

Fred Bell, president of the Rush County Farmers association, appeared before the board this afternoon, and promised that he would get the sentiment of the members of each association within ten days or two weeks, because every association except two will meet this week and next to begin their membership campaigns for next year.

Mr. Bell had this idea in mind when the Rushville Township Farmers association met last night and the question was proposed to them. They were for it to a man, and they said so in short speeches which were made at the meeting.

Two members of the board of commissioners have been against ordering the Memorial Hall without an election and the third member has been in favor of ordering the memorial at once.

The two members of the board opposed say they want the sentiment of the taxpayers. Mr. Bell proposes that they shall have it and he is confident that it will be favorable because he, in common with a lot of other people believes that the people of Rush county have not so far receded from their former patriotic position, which they maintained during the war that they are not now willing to show some appreciation of the services rendered by the men who fought for their country.

The two members of the board who are opposed, have been reminded frequently that the Memorial Hall petition had been on file for more than a month, but that no one in Rush county had remonstrated against it, as the law provides.

Though there may be some opposition to the project, no man has had the courage to circulate a petition or to appear publicly and declare himself against it.

The reason for urging the erection of a Memorial Hall now, is that in order to have a referendum on the question, a petition containing a majority of the names of those signing the original petition, must

FRANK HASHER PAYS A FINE

Pleads Guilty to Shooting Firearms in City Limits.

Frank Hasher, owner of a grocery store in west First street, was arraigned before Squire Stech this afternoon on a charge of shooting firearms within the city limits, to which he entered a plea of guilty and was fined a dollar and cost. He paid the fine. The charge was preferred by Charley Pea, former policeman, who asserted that Hasher shot a revolver five times last night, two of the bullets landing in the side of Pea's residence. Hasher asserted that he fired in the air in order to frighten five boys who had thrown rocks at his place of business. The five boys will probably be called before the Squire on charges that will be preferred by Hasher.

The campaign next week will set a new record for the number of meetings to be held in Rush county.

In addition to the republican meetings announced above, the democrats have also announced a number for next week, the principal one of which will be at the court room on the third floor of the court house Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock. The address will be delivered by Grace Julian Clark of Indianapolis, woman's club worker and political writer.

The principal meeting for the republicans will be on the Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the coliseum in the city park. Mrs. Margaret Hill McCarter of Topeka, Kansas is expected to attract the largest crowd of the campaign because she is not only noted as an orator, but is a Rush county woman and has many friends in this county.

The closing week of the campaign will be equally as intense in activity for several meetings have already been arranged, including the republican county tour on October 26, and a number of others will be scheduled. The republicans expect to make the tour the biggest effort of the campaign.

Mrs. Marshall Coolidge, who speaks at Milroy next Wednesday evening, lives in Minnesota, and her husband is a cousin of Governor Coolidge, republican candidate for vice-president.

Mrs. McCarter has just closed a two weeks' campaign tour in New York and came to Indiana on Thursday.

SAYS MAIN ISSUE IS PARTY RECORD

Rep. Foss of Illinois Severely Arraigns Democratic Administration For Extravagances

G. O. P. A PARTY OF PROGRESS

Miss Mary Sleeth Urges Women to Affiliate With it in Order to Get Desired Reforms

Not the league of nations, but the record of the democratic party for the last eight years, is the principal issue in this campaign, declared George Edmund Foss, of Chicago, former Illinois congressman, in an address at the court room Friday night, in which he severely arraigned the party for its extravagances both during and after the war, and its lack of preparation for war when the entrance of the United States into the conflict appeared inevitable.

The meeting was opened with an hour's address by Miss Mary Sleeth, in which she made a ringing appeal to the women to support the republican party because only through it could the reforms which women seek, be obtained. Miss Sleeth was congratulated by scores of people after the meeting for her speech, it being the first time she had appeared before a local audience during this campaign.

Miss Sleeth pointed out that since women had been given the ballot, they should take advantage of the opportunity to improve conditions. She urged upon all new voters the necessity of joining a party because this is essential a government by political parties.

"And it behooves the lately enfranchised women to affiliate with the republican party," she asserted, "because it is the party of progress the party through which you may hope to win the reforms in which you are interested."

Miss Sleeth referred to the conditions of child labor in the south, pointing out that two million children are working an average of sixty-six hours a week.

"You can not expect this situation to be corrected by the democratic party, which is dominated by the south," the speaker continued. "The democratic majority there will not permit a condition which is worse than the days of slavery, to be corrected. It must be forced by the party which has always stood for advancement."

Miss Sleeth pointed to the wise legislation enacted by the republican party in the last sixty years, which had been in a large measure responsible for the wonderful achievements of the nation, laying stress particularly on a protective tariff.

Miss Sleeth also discussed the league of nations, briefly.

Asserting that the democratic party's promises must be measured by its past performance, Rep Foss pointed to the many errors in national affairs in the last eight years. He referred to the tariff question, which has always been the main line of demarcation between the two old parties, calling attention to the record.

CHANGE GAS HEARING DATE

Commission Will Hear Central Fuel's Petition on Nov. 1 Here.

The Public Service Commission of Indiana will hear the petition of the Central Fuel Gas Company, who are asking for increased rates, at the court house in this city on Monday afternoon, November first at two o'clock. The meeting was first scheduled to be here next Wednesday, but owing to a conflict in dates, the commission today announced that it would be changed to the first of November. The local gas company in petitioning for higher rates asks for a new schedule with a minimum rate requiring that bills be paid before the tenth of the month following the reading of the meters. It is not known whether or not a remonstrance will be filed.

"You all remember the conditions in 1914," he continued. "Three-fourth of the railroads went into the hands of receivers, men were out of work and depression was beginning to appear when the war broke out. When this condition arose, there came a demand for our goods and produced a war prosperity which made the tariff question a dead issue for the time being. However, if the democrats had left the Payne bill on the statute books, it would have produced four times as much revenue and would have materially reduced taxes."

Cong. Foss took the democratic party to task for lack of preparation for war, using as evidence, a recent statement of Franklin Roosevelt, assistant secretary of navy, that nothing had been done towards building up the navy January 1, 1917. The American army was even in a worse condition, the speaker pointed out, being composed of less than 100,000 men.

"The result today is that the immense cost of the war was due to the lack of foresight to prepare before we were actually engaged," Foss said.

"I wouldn't blame them so much for their war extravagances if they would shut off the expenses after the war. In the last congress heads of departments asked for a five billion dollars and the republican congress saved the nation $1,300,000,000 by slicing off that sum."

He pointed out that the first republican congress under Wilson cut his department heads' estimates one billion, making a total saving by two republican congresses of $2,300,000,000.

"This shows the republican party has already started on its policy of retrenchment," the speaker declared, "and if you elect Harding and a republican congress, you can depend on economy in government affairs and a lowering of taxes."

In closing, Rep. Foss explained the organization of the league and took up each reservation proposed by the republicans of the senate, showing how they attempted to preserve American rights and institutions.

TOWNSHIPS UNITE TO BUY GRAIN ELEVATORS

Project is Launched Whereby Farmers Will Control Elevators at Various Places in County

STOCK IS BEING SOLD

At a meeting of the farmers of Walker and Orange townships of this county and of Union, Liberty and Marion townships of Shelby county, held Thursday night in the school building at Manila, the first steps were taken for the formation of a co-operating company for the purchase and management of the grain elevators at Manila, Homer and Rays Crossing.

This plan was suggested a few weeks ago and will probably be followed out in other communities of the county where elevators may be purchased and controlled by the farmers. At the meeting Thursday night each township selected men who will canvass and solicit stock in the five townships.

The movement today was reported to be well under way, and indications point to success. The farmers believe the co-operative company can obtain better results for the producers and will insure them of the protection of co-operative selling of their grain.

HALLOWE'EN WILL BE ON SUNDAY THIS YEAR

Usual Parties And Dances Will Most Likely be Celebrated on Saturday and Monday Nights

"SUMMER HAS NOW WENT"

In the vernacular of the little boy, "Summer has went" for those beautiful flower boxes which have been adding cheerfulness to the streets of Rushville for the past five months were removed today and will be cared for by the florist to be brought out again next spring. This is but another sign of approach autumn and winter. "When the frost is on the pumpkin"

And speaking of autumn and the pumpkin, doesn't it remind you that the days of the witches, the goblins, the bats and the jack-o-lanterns is nearly here? Hallowe'en isn't far off and preparations are already being made for parties galore on that night. The young folks will soon be standing on their heads in a tub of water "bobbing" for apples or gazing thru domino masks at other grotesquely attired dancers, trying to guess their identity.

It may cause some feeling of regret when Summer bids good-bye but there's a consolation in the evening gathering that will come to replace out-of-door sports.

Because Hallowe'en comes on Sunday, the 31st of this month, it will most likely be celebrated with evertime events, both on the Saturday proceeding and the Monday following. The "kids" will probably celebrate on all three nights.

Snakeville, Texas, Has Population Running Into Thousands, But There Are No Traffic Cops, Paved Streets, Street Cars or Movies

(By United Press)

Snakeville, Tex., Oct. 16.—This is a city with the population running into the thousands. Yet there are no traffic cops, no street cars, no paved streets, no movies. It is an American city, yet few of the thousands of inhabitants speak English—in fact, few of them talk at all.

Snakeville is all the name indicates—and some more, too. The residents of this unique city include all breeds and varieties of snakes. Snakeville today has a housing capacity of 18,000 snakes. The buildings are substantial concrete structures.

Additional to snakes, 5,000 parrots claim this their home while monkeys, tigers, lions, bears, lizards, wildcats, griffins, and other Southern types of wild animals wander through special forests and are living here without paying taxes.

William King, called the Snake King, rules this re-organized jungle. He's getting now selling the animals to zoos all over the world. This spring he shipped a carload of snakes to Osaka, Japan. Princess Raja, vaudevillianess, has bought her snakes of King for the last ten years ago. Bill King, just finishing allotment of the latest styles in snakes and animal before buying.

Snakeville was organized from a ten dollar bill. More than twenty years ago Bill King, just finishing a third rambling tour of the world decided to settle down. Being a naturalist by instinct, he decided to become one by profession. Borrowing ten dollars he purchased a box of bull snakes from a Mexican at Brownsville, Texas. An eastern newspaper gave him the address of a collector of snakes. And the idea for a replanted wilderness was born.

All of King's snakes and animals come from Mexico. He has 17 buying stations in the southern republic, with agents collecting the finest specimens to be found. At first King was his own scout, taking lonely trips into the mountain regions of Mexico for animals.

Snakeville is within the jurisdiction of the city of Brownsville. It has become one of the show places of border tourists.

Loren Baker and Ethel Terry will be featured tonight at the Princess theater in "The Mystery of the Yellow Room," which is an exciting detective story, full of thrills, mystery and suspense. A Sunshine comedy, "Mary's Little Lobster", will also be on the program tonight, which promises to be an exceptionally good bill.

Viola Dana has the most important drama of her starring career in "Dangerous to Men", which is announced as the feature attraction at the Princess Theatre, for a run of two days, beginning on Monday. The screen play is an adaptation by A. P. Younger of the famous English drama, "Eliza Comes to Stay", which was produced in London with the author, H. V. Esmond, and his wife, Eva Moore, in the leading roles, and which scored one of the biggest successes of the modern English stage.

The role of Eliza taxes to the full Viola Dana's versatile powers as a comedienne, picturing the development of a tomboy school girl who finds herself at eighteen thrust into a bachelor's household as his ward, there to discover her own seductive charm and how it makes her regarded as a dangerous woman. It is said to be Miss Dana's favorite role.

"Brothers Divided" at Mystic

"Brothers Divided," Frank Keenan's newest production for Pathe and booked for the Mystic Theatre today is one of those pictures that makes the world seem like a mighty fine place to live in.

The story revolves about two brothers—one crabbed and selfish and hard; the other tender and generous and square. Twenty years in the confines of a prison had taught him to appreciate human nature, and when circumstances placed him in charge of his brother's mill, where the employees were overworked and underpaid, he told them of his past and asked for a chance to make good.

He got it—and the result brings this delightful, human interest story of work and play and just plain happy lives to a close that sends a smile chasing the tears away.

Frank Keenan not only plays the role of the two brothers, but also directed the picture, which was written by Gertrude Andrews. Wallace MacDonald, Ruth Langston, Gertrude Clair and others are prominent in the splendid supporting cast.

Self Preservation

Some democratic leaders have accused Senator Harding of being evasive in the position he takes on campaign questions. At Omaha he was asked about his opinion on the subject of the proposed "general amnesty to political prisoners." This is what he said:

"I have been asked many times during this campaign whether I would grant general amnesty, as it is called, to political prisoners. My answer, I trust, is clear. I would not."

On this, as on other subjects, Harding goes straight to the point and is unevasive. He makes no bid for the I. W. W. vote. He holds out no hope to the anarchist. He gives no slightest encouragement to the seditionist. He is for enforcement of law—law founded upon justice and perpetuation of orderly government.

Mr. Harding's statement is not a declaration that he favors punishment of all who may be imprisoned on a charge of crime against the government. He specifically says, "If there are political prisoners who are being punished unjustly,—I shall want to take immediate action to restore justice to such men and women, precisely as I will wish to give freedom to any man or woman who has been unjustly accused of ordinary crime."

"Political prisoners" and "general amnesty" are terms which the enemies of American government have been using to mislead people unfamiliar with the facts. There is no such thing as a "political prisoner" under the laws of the United States and the jurisdiction of our courts. Clever propagandists have used the term in such a manner as to convey the impression that there are such prisoners in the same sense that men and women were made political prisoners in Russia. Probably not many people were deceived. It is true that under the present administration of the department of justice, it has been charged that men have been arrested on inadequate evidence and held indefinitely instead of being accorded that speedy trial which they are guaranteed by our federal constitution. If there are any such prisoners, they are held in violation of law, and will be given relief under Senator Harding's pledge to "take immediate action to restore justice" as in any other case.

Self preservation is the first law of nature. It is also the first law of governments. Unless the government be preserved, no personal or property right can be safe from the aggressions of combined greed and brute power.

There is not now nor has there ever been any disposition to hinder any man who proposes a change in our form of government in the manner prescribed by amendment of the constitution. But there is and will continue to be a demand for the punishment of men who try to overthrow the government by forcible resistance to its laws or by violence of any kind. Probably the most thorough, comprehensive and specific measure designed to meet that demand is the Poinexter sedition bill, still pending in the senate. That bill makes it a felony to advocate, aid or abet forcible resistance to a forcible destruction of constituted government in general or of the government of the United States, its laws, authority, agents or officials, or the governments of the state, municipalities or other constituted authorities within the United States. The measure provides further specifications for the punishment of advocacy of the use of force in defiance of law. With that measure on the statute books, no attorney general will ever plead inadequacy of law as an excuse for failure to apprehend and convict seditionists, and yet under that measure no man could be convicted unless he were an enemy of government and of law and order.

With Harding in the White House and a working republican majority in both houses of congress, justice will be assured to all, but there will be no mercy for the man who commits the greatest crime of all—that of endeavoring to overthrow the government itself.

Mud Slinging

Fortunately the campaign will be ended in November. Were it otherwise we fear there would be a dearth of perfectly good mud in this country.

Mud has been flying promiscuously for the past few weeks. It has been striking, and besmirching, and besmearing until one begins to wonder what kind of men we put up for public office.

To any one with a reasonably clean mind this policy of mud slinging in political campaigns is nauseating.

If a man deserves the mud that swats him he is not the kind of men we should honor with public office. If he is an honorable man he should not be subjected to vituperation and abuse.

It requires long years of correct living to build up a desirable reputation. To destroy it as an act of political expediency is about the limit to which an opponent can go. The indiscriminate assassination of character is becoming entirely too prevalent in this country—but at that we are no worse than the other nations of the earth.

It is difficult to imagine Tom Taggart of Indiana, Boss Murphy of Tammany Hall, Big Jim Nugent of New Jersey and Boss Brennan of Chicago being pleased over the Gov. Cox succumbing to Pres. Wilson's view of the campaign situation and stressing the idealistic league of nations.

Some queens at times exhibit symptoms of being almost human. She of England and the ladies of her court are said to be buying second hand gowns in order to make war on the prevailing high prices in London.

The government has duty and officially decreed that women is man's equal, but we venture the prediction that she will not insist upon her new born rights when it comes time to build the fire on a cold winter morning.

Again we are facing a crisis in our national history. If this baseball scandal is not settled by November we fear no one will have enough interest left in the election to vote.

They say one kind of a brave is the fellow who goes home at three o'clock in the morning without removing his shoes before opening the door.

Hang onto your nickels, fellows. Prices are sliding down, and there may come a time when they will be of use in making small change.

We hope, however, automobiles will not become so cheap, no one will want to buy them.

PERU MAN HAS BIG
GRAND JURY RECORD

O. E. Morrice Has Been Indicted 36 Times in Elkhart County For Different Charges

LAST TIME ON EMBEZZLEMENT

Goshen, Ind., Oct. 16—Charles E. Morrice, has been indicted by the received more attention from the Elkhart county Grand Jury than any other man in the history of the state.

Morrice has been indicted by the Elkhart Grand Jury 36 times, 20 of these, indictments charge Grand Larceny, six are for larceny and embezzlement, six for forging and uttering forged instruments, two petit larceny, and one is for just plain larceny.

Morrice was released after putting up a bond of $21,000 and was allowed to return to Peru, where he is a manager of the Ariel Cabinet company.

The indictments were returned after B. F. Deahl, president of the I. X. L. Furniture company accused Morrice of misappropriating $50,000 worth of property belonging to the furniture company.

Morrice is not willing to stand by and "look wise and wait" but has filed suit against the company for alleged back salary and commission amounting to $22,000.

No date has been set for Morrice's trial.

FISH AND GAME MEN WILL MEET

Ninth Annual Session of Indiana
Fish, Game and Forest League
Will Meet Oct. 28

INCLUDES 108 ASSOCIATIONS

Prominent Workers in Different
State Branches Will Address
The Conferences.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 16—The
Indiana Fish, Game and Forest
League will meet in ninth annual
session in the palm room at the Claypool hotel, Thursday, Oct. 28,
according to announcement by Walter Shirts, of Noblesville, president
of the league. The morning session
will convene at 10 o'clock and at 6
o'clock the Marion County Fish &
Game Association will entertain visiting delegates at a dinner.

During the business hours of the
convention, delegates from 108
county associations which make up
the state organization, will exchange
ideas and map out a program to be presented to the next general assembly regarding changes in some
of the fish and game laws of the state and the creation of additional
laws tending to conserve and increase the fish and game in Indiana.

Richard Lieber, director; William
A. Guthrie, chairman of the state
conservation commission, and
George N. Mannfeld, superintendent
of the division of fish and game of
the conservation department, will speak at the meeting and explain
the work of the department. They also will present a program of proposed legislation—thirty-one changes
which were recently promulgated.
The state department of conservation recognizes the Indiana Fish, Game and Forest League as the official state organization of men interested in the conservation of the wild life of Indiana, and by laying
its legislative program before this
convention is enabled to relate accomplishments of the department
during its 18 months existence and
to co-operate with the league for
further sustained progress.

Speakers from the department
will point out that Indiana is without a law regulating the catching of
fish during spawning season—a period when natural propagation
should not be interfered with. The department recognizes the value of
fish hatcheries for restocking
streams, but says that daily the
number of anglers is increasing
while the fish are decreasing. Unless
the state has legislation to regulate
fishing in spawning time the supply
in lakes and streams will never be augmented as it should. Stream
pollution is another serious menace
which the department will seek cooperation of the league for legislation to prevent, and it will be shown
by speakers that many appeals from
citizens are now unanswered for
lack of funds and personnel necessary to prosecutions.

RUSHVILLE ADDS 2 MORE VICTORIES

First and Second Teams Defeat
Fairview Five Here Friday
Night in Two Good Games

LOCALS SHOW SNAPPY PLAY

Fairview Varsity Throws Scare Into Rushville Early in Game But
is Soon Overwhelmed

The high school's first and second
teams annexed victories last night
over the two Fairview teams, when
the first team defeated their first
team by the score of twenty-nine
to 9 and the second team walked
away with the large end of a 20 to 3 score.

Titsworth's Fairview teams never
gave up, and fought every minute
of the game, but the local team had
them bested on shooting the baskets. Fairview's fast quintet of last year was weakened this year by the loss of Hill and Patton, who figured
strongly in the sectional tourna-

When the game first started, the
visitors threw a scare into the local
team, as they seemed to have the best of the game. Fairview succeeded in taking the ball down the line,
and had excellent team work, but
were off form in hitting the goal.

Peters, their lengthy center, finally located the basket for a long
shot, and made the first score of the evening. After a few minutes of
see-sawing, Eakins landed a foul
goal in the net, making the score
2 to 1. Soon afterwards Rushville
began to find the basket, and after
limbering up with their team work,
piled up the score to 15 points,
while Fairview had 5, at the end of
the first half.

Emerson Headlee starred for the
locals in making points, and of the 29 he made 14, making 7 field goals
in the game. The rest of the team played in harmony with each other,
and as the Fairview danger passed,
it was with very little difficulty that
the pointers were made. Rushville
showed many flashes of snappy
team work, in which the ball was
hard to follow as it was taken down
the floor.

Eakins was in good form on foul shots, making good five out of seven chances. Fairview made good one out of six chances on foul
throws.

Black, an athletic director from Technical high school of Indianapolis, acted as referee, and stated
that the game was exceedingly fast
and complimented both teams on their showing. The game was rough
in spots, but the referee stated
that roughness prevailed in every
fast game, and that it would have
slowed the game down, had the
roughness been kept out.

Link, star guard for Fairview,
sustained a badly sprained ankle
toward the end of the game, and in

all probability he will be kept from
the game for several weeks.

The local team will play a return
game next Friday night at Fair-
view, at which time each team will
stage games.

The local second team played
good ball and didn't have much
difficulty in defeating the Fairview
second squad, by the score of 20
to 3.

The score and summary.

Hang of Gown Is Freak of Fashion

By "MARJORIE"
(Written for United Press)

New York, Oct. 16.—Milady of fashion is not on the level. At least, her clothes are not, for as the season advances, the tendency to lopsidedness is more and more marked. Nor is this "up-again-down-again" movement confined to the skirt hems that would be described by the rural dressmaker as "hanging awful". The craze for irregular, spasmodic lines is shown in draperies, pannings, the way a button snap fastens irregular length in sleeves or shoulder straps, and graduated bandings and applied trimmings.

The "awful hanging" hems are seen in gowns, suits and even coats. In dresses the effect is often shown by a bead or yarn fringe that is set higher upon the body of the gown one side than the other, and thus makes the skirt length an inch or so longer on one side than on another. Fringed hem finishings by the way, are a popular novelty of the season. Monkey fur is by far the favored fringe material, as bead fringes are too apt to be caught by the shoe and broken. Fringe is not often seen upon coats, but an irregular hem line is given either by the natural cut of the garment or by having the buttons set an inch or so above the corresponding buttonholes.

Pannings are very useful in giving a broken skirt silhouette. Thus a leading Fifth Avenue house shows a green gown fashioned of rich bottle green duvetyne. The basque front is puckered about a white satin vestee

COATS THAT DEFY COLD

Those handsome plush fabrics which have established a reputation for durability and warmth as well as rich appearance, have been introduced this fall in many attractive coats. Besides those that imitate certain furs so closely that they deceive the eyes, there are others that make no attempt to imitate anything, but stand on their own merits as materials of great beauty, especially adapted to coats for the coldest weather.

In the picture a handsome and practical coat is shown made of dark brown plush with a high turn-over collar of fur. Skunk, martin, fox and other pelts provide collars for these coats as for coats of short-haired fur, and the balls that finish the ends of the long girdle are of fur. Three handsome buttons secure the closing of the coat and are placed to the left of the front.

STATE CHARITIES MEET NOV. 13-16

Annual Conference Will be Held in Terre Haute and Best Versed
Speakers Are Obtained

ROUND TABLE DISCUSSION TOO

Subjects Will Include All Phases of Charitable Work in the State
—Interest is Keen

The program for the Indiana State Conference of Charities and Correction, which will be held in Terre Haute from November 13 to 16, is the most interesting of a long series of excellent programs which have been presented to similar meeting in previous years. An effort has been made and is meeting with success to obtain the best versed speakers on social subjects in the United States to lecture during the period of the conference. Furthermore all of the leaders in charitable and social work in Indiana will be present to participate and to direct the work of the round table conversations.

Specific subjects to be covered include Americanization, the Child problem in the city, the Public School situation, state and county charities, juvenile courts, the American Red Cross, Public Institutions and Agencies, Family Welfare, and Public Health Nursing. These subjects are of interest to every public spirited man and woman in the state and arrangements are being made to take care of the large number expected to attend.

The program for Saturday night, November 13, includes an address of welcome by Mayor C. R. Hunter of Terre Haute; response and greeting by Dr. W. W. Parsons of the Indiana State Normal School; the President's annual address "The Lighting of the Candles" by Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon of Evansville; and an address "American Americanization" by Allen T. Burns, President of National Conference of Social Work, New York City. Neither Mr. Parsons, the widely known and popular educational veteran of the State Normal School, nor Mrs. Bacon, for many years prominent in social work in this state, need an introduction to the Hoosier public but their names on the program are a guarantee of its excellence.

Allen T. Burns, director of Americanization studies for the Carnegie Foundation was recently elected president of the National Conference of Social Work for 1921 at the recent conference session at New Orleans. As a Y. M. C. A. worker at Chicago Commons, as secretary of the Pittsburgh Civic Commission, and as director of the Cleveland Foundation; he has been an active and influential worker in four of the great cities of America and his lecture will be one of the features of the conference.

REVIVAL SEEN IN SOME GERMAN INDUSTRIES

Connections Between Shipyards and Coal and Iron Works Being Made in Increasing Numbers

MAY RENEW COMMERCE FLEET

By CARL D. GROAT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Berlin, (By Mail).—Despite the slumping tendency in German industry at this time, it is remarkable that some important branches are showing signs of great improvement.

Connections between shipyards and coal and iron works are being made in increasing numbers. The shipyards are making feverish efforts to renew Germany's commerce fleet.

Such reconstruction is given an impetus by the recent agreements between the Hamburg Amerika line and the American Ship and Commerce corporation, and between the Norddeutscher Lloyd line and the U. S. mail Steamship company. Admiral Benson of the U. S. shipping board has described these agreements as strictly business deals which will help put the American shipping business on a strong footing.

Here, in Germany, one regards them as affording a field for activity for the old German companies and a starting point for a quicker rebuilding of the German fleet than

Exide BATTERIES

Add New Life To Your Battery

Before you buy a new battery, let us make sure it is necessary. Every day batteries are discarded that we could economically put into condition to give much longer service.

No matter what make of battery is in your car, we are equipped to repair it skilfully and at reasonable cost. It will be made to last as long as possible, until you are ready to replace it with an Exide—the long-life battery.

one could have expected under the Versailles treaty conditions.

The German realizes that the American agreement is not made out of friendship for Germany, and he feels that there is in it a clever move to assure America's standing on the seas as against English competition. And, English manifestly is viewing the arrangement with the angry feelings of the "Zuspaetgekommenen" (the too late arrived) and it is possible that England will strive, perhaps successfully, to make other connections with Germany for a co-operation in the shipping line.

"Pain's enemy" —I'll say it is!

WHEN you want quick, comforting relief from any "external" pain, use Sloan's Liniment. It does the job without staining, rubbing, bandaging. Use freely for rheumatism, neuralgia, aches and pains, sprains and strains, backache, sore muscles.

PEPSINCO

It is a useless waste of good fuel and needless extravagance to try to burn it in a poor stove. It is absolutely wrong to expect good food to supply energy, vitality, health and happiness, if your stomach won't absorb and assimilate it. If you cannot eat with enjoyment; if your food does you no good; if food distresses, rather than benefits, then you have indigestion or dyspepsia. The best remedy to use is PEP SINCO.

Ask your druggist—he sells and recommends Pepsinco.
